Hi

I was playing earlyer today when ashen came on, i was on ct just about to go get hosteges and then got shot by ashen when i looked i couldent see anything but then when i died i saw that he was behind cover where i couldent see him but he can see me. now i have told him to stop because its a bannable offence but he didnt so i recorded him in hope this will teach him a lesson to stop exploiting races.

This is true, I was there, and reality, what hes trying to say is he was abusing it by standing behind objects that you cannot see the barrel over but the person playing as a barrel can see you, its an offence.

i know what he meant voodoo, and its the same as on crackhouse, there are plenty of places u can not be seen if ur a barrel, like behind the table in spawn, the vents, etc

Like I said in the app bit 🤔
You cant ban people for it because members and admin's do it as well. 🤔

It's using the advantages of the race.

Hiding isn't a bannable offense.

Being barrel means you have an advantage over the players anyway, hiding behind objects to gain an advantage is just using good tactics.

As long as it's not on a map where that race is specifically restricted, there's no punishment against using the race.

but if that is true then people would just abuse the barrel as it is 100% impossible to see him but he can still see and shoot you?

Well, if its absolutely impossible to see him, and I mean, his name doesn't pop or anything then you can ask him to stop, but as I wasn't there I don't know where he was.

I still wouldn't agree that it's bannable though.
