

Fair reason for kicking?

Posted by Reflexis - 25 Feb 2011 17:04

Hey

I think I got unreasonably kicked from the WCS server. Just want a second opinion as to if admins are allowed to kick people because of the race they are playing.

I was on the WCS server and was playing my favourite race Succubus Hunter when Art Of War asked of me to change race cause I was like 32 levels above any of the other races (its really fast to lvl). And I'm tired of hearing people telling me to change races all the time, so I might've been a bit harsh and said something like: "Jeez, stop whining xD"

And then I got kicked...

Is that really fair?

Cheers

If it's being used unfairly as in you were abusing all other players with you skills 😏
Then I guess, he must have had a reason to ask you to change

I will look into this. Doesn't sound like a kickable offence.

People can ask another player to change race out of courtesy, but if a player wants to play a race and there is no specific rule against it, then they can play that race if they want to.

Thanks for posting 🙏

Hmm, i think that if it's that high compared to everyone else, it makes it very easy to advance levels and get new races. i'd say like 200 xp per kill off you? 🤔
I'd say it was fair

this is, in my opinion, a very stupid reason for kicking. as u said, Succubus hunter is ur favourite race, and a player should be able to play whatever race he wants (if he got the high enough lvl) with no reason to change just because u have a high lvl on that specific race. and if u get killed by a low lvl race, it should be a + for that player because of the xp.

example: as the bots only play with one race, their like lvl 40-50 on that race, and this makes it very easy to lvl. cant really kick bots for using only one race 🤔
