hmm i guess we get away of his request. it's a bit strange to discuss about names like "hitler; etc" because they are not allowed by steam. no discussion ! ^^ either close the topic or stick to shootme's request 😏

cheers 😏

But there is evidence that the CIA did plan 9/11. Even if you want to dispute that read Andy McNabs book bravo two zero because there is a section where he talks about training the mujahidin to do things like sneak box cutters on planes. You may think "alright but what has that got to do with Osama bin Laden?" the mujahadin changed their name to Al-Qaeda who pulled off 9/11.

This is true but, the mujahadin were trained and supplied to fight the russians, essentially its like the current situation with the ANA (Afghan National Army) they simply decided to follow another path under a false guise of a "jihad" or "holy war" but in addition to that, coming from someone who has served in the British Army, Andy McNab turns everything into drama and most of his publications are quite exaggerated, and for the most part, Conspiracy Theories are normally formulated by people who have nothing better to do.

edit : on topic, names that are offensive to people (as long as they contain some form of insult, profanity or political incorrectness will be asked to change, if not they will be dealt with.

Expression of opinion has limitations, for example. you can walk up to a police officer and say "you're a c" - this would be your personal opinion, however would be an offence. freedom of expression is and always has been, a shade of grey.
