

Flame Predator

Posted by kl3sh - 30 Jan 2011 19:38

I'm just writing to say that flame predator is way over powered for such a low level compared that of races at higher levels such as the rapscallion. And as it's so low you get people over using it, and maxing it out and continually using it on maps such as scoutzknives and awp maps.

I would like to just ask if there was any way to reduce the over powerlessness, by e.g reducing invisibility or the insane speed of it? :/ I just feel it's really over used and for what it is, really low level.

Just wondering if anyone else felt this?

It's very easy to counter him so for me it doesn't really matter. The only thing is that scoutsknivez is being played to much on the wcs server ^^.

Hehe, it's aight on some maps, it's just the small sniper ones that are overplayed 😊
It's really hard to hit them :/

Thanks for report, there's a topic for this kind of remarks btw, under counter-strike source.

I'll reduce the speed / invis, if you want.

For some reason the command to restrict the use of a specific race / team doesn't work, so can't gimp it that way...

Yeah m3ntoz, the problem is that you can't always stay on one race to counter someone who plays the same race over and over, it gets dull 😞
But I see what you mean :/

Yeahooky, that's great 😊
It's really just the invisibility that is the issue, for the level, it's really high :/ When you have time ofc, and as for restricting numbers, people who stay in that race, usually log on and on with it, so it doesn't make them change :/

Thanks for reading the topic, thought it needed to be addressed 😊
