Kill cam on/off

When we discussed FF many suggested we should have it on for added realism. And so something else poped up, kill cam. For added realism and fun I think it should be removed. What do you guys think? I also think many use it to find there killers position and either tell teammates or use it when they respawn. Especially against snipers/engineers.

Dont have really an opinion on it, is it good to have. In team play its useful if you are a real squad (like we do it when playing together).

For snipers its bad, but again isnt the game full of them?

Depends on the class you play I think, if u'r a sniper its useful for u, but as I play as medic most of the time, it is useful for me to know where's the guy that sniped me lol...

Keep it on - I don't see why we need to go for realism when the game isn't intended to be realistic!
