

Admin-ship

Hey, Im Coolio,

In-game, I'm Hunter.

I've been a part of TWK since as long as I can remember,

And I love the community.

I play a lot on the Warcraft server (when Im not really busy).

And I would really like to be an admin on the Warcraft server, because I love helping the people there, and wouldn't mind bringing the justice every now and then 😊

I applied vefore, but there were too many admins at the time.

Right now, Im not seeing many around.

So please do consider me for a position,

I would do my very best to be a good admin 😊

Thanks, Hunter.

HAHA 🤔

Thats alot of +1's 🤔

But I dunno, forum-ing isnt really my thing.....spose I can try 🤔

but Im mostly a player 🤔

and thank you for the compliment 🤔

Visiting the forum is part of being an admin. You should accept it or your request won't ever be accepted 😊

Being an admin isn't just about slapping/kicking people on the servers, you have to give feedback and share ideas as to how we can improve things. I haven't played a game in over 2 months but i still contribute to whatever i can on the forums.

I see....well, I'm here now, and I'll be sure to be more active on this forum now 😊

Hmmmm.....dunno what to contribute though, in terms of the servers, that is.

The Gungame and the Warcraft are both pretty good in my opinion.

although, sometimes the Warcraft server is completely vacant :O

I would like to say something about orcish horde race. The reincarnation does not work anymore ppl asking about it the whole time. Could you take a look at the problem as fast as you have time to solve the problem

It's already posted in the document with classes so they know it ( if they check it)

Foruming is pretty improtant imo, I myself am not a real 'forum person' but with my college blocking the steam ports (yet the tech staff get their own private server to play black ops online... *mutters rude words under breath*) I am unable to play.

However, throughout my time here I've been on the forums practically every day to check for new stuff going on, I might not regularly visit certain places like the starcraft or cod sections as I don't play them (cod may be soon but it'll be xbox if anything... I can go online on xbox...) but I do check out anything that I might be able to get involved with, the css section for example. As an admin my opinion could be the difference to changing part of a server or not, or letting someone into the community.

If I know that person to be of bad standing or I was in a community with them before and they broke us all apart, I would need to be on the forums to see that persons application and warn my fellow admins/community members about that fact. It's an extreme example but it's certainly possible!

As vapour said, he hasn't played for 2 months was it? I've not been able to get onto css since september 13th, so nearing month no. 4 now 😞
