how can you not have played on the servers AND been a member?

what were you banned for and for how long?

like, I have played on the servers before, but that was before I was banned. I was banned because of @@ over use, and I kind of supported the wrong guy

Out of the blue you want to re-join twk without being on the servers or forums of recent, after previously being banned?

Tarnishing the TWK reputation with 'admin abuse' is quite a serious matter and should stop you waltzing back into the community out of the blue.

So even knowing the rules, you still broke them. Bans aren't handed out lightly and in my belief, being a member of TWK comes with responsibilities and they are to maintain a decent image of the community. This especially goes for admins, who should keep the peace. Seeming as you did NOT maintain a good image of the community and took it for granted as well as your position of power, i refuse to welcome you back into the community.

kindest regards, Eski.

p.s. This is only my opinion, others may not be so harsh.

Why this clan, surely if you were banned from it you'd know the likely hood of you getting back in would be slim, and try a different clan..? And why tell us you were previously banned when you are using a new user name?

My 🕸spidey-scenes are tingling. Something doesn't add up. 🤔

You were obviously banned for a reason and coming back with a different name, without even an apology doesn't change whatever happened. That's my opinion.

Peace
