There is a "no massive griefing" rule that none listens to...

And creeper made plenty of comuinty members to leave the MC server thanks to his griefing 🙄

I dont really understand why everyone is so mad about griefing :S They play on a multiplayer server and pvp happens on servers. And if there was no pvp/griefing everyone would have been stuck in their mines doing nothing... So why doesnt you guys just get used to it and not rage so badly about it... 🙄

Well his point was he grieved for no reason, which (which is what I have understood) is against the rules

Well why is there a rule agasint random griefing? And when you just suddenly find someones base youve been looking for and you know that inside that base it is a lot of high level enchanted items and a lot of other goodies you kind of want to grief him 🤔

Looting and griefing are different. Random griefing is un-needed

Well we didnt destroy his base, we just claimed and unclaimed it all so the base is still there... We just needed to blow up a wall to get inside for the chests. And it actually says where you vote for the server that its a hardcore pvp server so why not let hardcore pvpers play on it without have all these weird rules? So maybe change it to a flowerpower server where everyone loves eachother and lose a lot of members from that or keep it as a hardcore pvp server and just realise that pvp happens :3
