If it's not been changed I would have assumed you were taken back to spawn when you died (not home or else if someone learnt where it was and was able to sit there you'd be screwed). What I can suggest is you do one of the following:

Use F3 to log your co-ords and then head back there on foot.

Go to a random location and use the sethome command.

Both of these will mea you can then fix your home tele and if it's at a good home, the first option will allow you to keep that home!

nah unless tunes is on theres not much he can do, theres a 3 second time limit on spawn teleporting so there is no chance he will live unless maybe a mod sticks water in spawn for him
