

[PROTIP] Don't give them the satisfaction

Posted by iMattR - 19 Jul 2012 11:28

Me again! 😊

Just posting some friendly advice for the MODs/XMODs on TWK when it comes to pain in the ass players on the server spamming chat, or generally abusing other players (again in chat). Essentially, when a player starts spamming they expect to be banned - it's what they want. And what do you give to a bitching child? Well, you sure as hell don't give them what they want. You tell them to grow up, shut up, go to their room. So with players that spam chat, just mute them.

I got the whole idea from Postal, who just uses "/ignore" on players that throw abuse at him or spam chat. When there's no authoritative members online that's probably the best method, but if there is then players should just ask those to mute him. 😊

Example

The other day, I was on the server and some kid kept getting killed in the PvP arena and decided it'd be totally awesome to call everyone on the server "gay assholes" and spam it into chat, multiple times. I asked his reasoning behind this despite multiple users telling me to ban/kick him. He then turned around and kept saying "ban me" over and over, so I simply went, "I wouldn't give you the pleasure." and muted him. Ten minutes later, he left the game.

Yup, whenever someone is being a tool in chat I tell everyone to /ignore them. It seems way more effective than a simple kick / ban. Win Win Baby!

Haha! We know you do! 😏
And nope - I'm one of the most impatient people ever, I just LOVE making people who are complete idiots feel stupid as hell.
