

Muting people just got boring

Posted by iMattR - 16 Sep 2012 11:09

Hey, guys

I'm just here to write a tiny little rant about players! 🗨️

Not anyone in specific, just a generality again - I'm actually sick to fucking death of constantly saying to people "English only in chat, please." and then saying the same thing another three times... within an hour... and having to mute them.

I would honestly understand if it was just them on the server, and all of the people were fluent foreign-language speakers - but when there's someone on the server who can't speak fluently in that language, it creates a barrier and puts the person unable to speak that language out of their comfort zone. I mean, don't get me wrong, I'm pro at Google Translate so I'm good 🗨️ but some people can't quickly open up a translation site/application and type what they're saying in.

This is just me having a little rant because, thinking about it, we actually deal with this rule more than we do the rule on griefing. Another one is spamming... that really grinds my gears too.

Signed your mute-trigger happy XMOD! 🗨️

=====