hmmmm. this was me..... i was originaly cutting out a big hole as somewhere to put pixel arts standing up (as for detail they need to be big). i then realised it would take too long to clear out a hole big enough for them (horizontally) as they were pretty big and even with server commands it would take a long time because i was afraid if i took away too many blocks at once it would "damage" the server in some way shape or form. after i realised it was too hard to do, i decided to build my pixel art on their side and turn the big hole into a very large underground base/bunker/testing facility. i wasnt able to start on building this yesterday as i had to go out and i had to entertain guest so i was planning on doing it today.

if this explanation is not sufficient, i will, of course, take whatever punishment comes my way.....

my apologies

NEZ
