thanks folks, its fixed for the momement, its crashing a bit, both servers lost a bit of stability, they configured quite differently, even in mod versions'n'stuff, but they crash and I atm have no idea why.

Keep me posted if it happens again! I regularly monitor them, but I sleep and live too 😞

I made a small modification which I hope to fix the issue

Java sucks with disk IO and Notch is using the crappiest method of map data, so it tend to abuse of disk IO and java looses track of something (yes, something) and cannot deal with a timeout on the disk (most apps do, they wait at least 100ms), thus giving Read Timeout, so, the map now runs in a RAMdisk, as its by now pretty small (24Mb), however the Creative will go into ram too, as it speed things A LOT, but that one is 400Mb, so I reserver 1G for a ramdisk and it should be running smooth. I hope.
