Griefing complains should be a little bit more precise, like where and when, Please add coords and when you think it might have happen.

I do say, Teleporting to your base, Killing and stealing your stuff is not griefing.

1: They didn't grief, they came into your faction home and raided. All they took were some pistons and broke a few walls to enter places.

2: How did they kill you in the safezone? Be more specific.

3: They didn't place anything in the safezone.

4: They killed you in your faction territory because you were enemies.

All those claims are completely false in my opinion

Then why didn't you report it then? This post is completely redundant in my opinion

What does your base look like? Is it a huge building made of sandstone?
