

Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 22:45

---

Well, I was in the middle of placing a redstone lamp when I was suddenly banned. I tried to log back in, and it said one thing: "x-ray". First of all, what about placing a redstone lamp makes you think I was x-raying. Second of all, looking at my inventory you could see the following: A diamond sword, a diamond pickaxe, a diamond shovel, a diamond hoe, two enchantment tables, one diamond and NO armor. If I was xraying don't you think I would have more than that? Anyway, third of all, I've been banned once for x-raying, and I did do it. The ban became a one-week ban, and I was told that if I x-rayed again, I would be banned. Do you really think I am that stupid?

Hopefully you will believe me,

117derek

---

Re: Banned?

Posted by Chifilly - 13 Feb 2013 22:50

---

You weren't necessarily banned for what you were doing at that exact point.

Steve showed me some of the tunnels you had made, and they were blatant X-Ray tunnels, made yesterday, under/near your old base that was raided. And by blatant, I mean digging straight tunnels straight to diamond, and when I did a lookup of the area, there were 3 pages of you breaking diamond in that area in a pretty close time frame. Also, your diamond break percentage is 7.5% which is unbelievably high. The average for a normal person would be around 0.1%. In the last 2 days you have broken 134 blocks of diamond ore, compared to 32 blocks of iron ore and 5 blocks of gold ore, which is completely absurd. You were warned last time, and you will not be unbanned.

---

Re: Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 22:52

---

First of all, who is steve, and second of all, I've been in the mines a lot, I don't go in straight lines, and I ignore most other ores.

---

Re: Banned?

Posted by Chifilly - 13 Feb 2013 22:55

---

Well first of all, you haven't been paying much attention. `steve_donno` is another Admin on the server.

Second of all, yes you do go in straight lines. We are not completely blind, and unless you can conjure optical illusions to make completely legit mining look like x-ray tunnels, and trick LogBlock into thinking you're digging straight through stone in a random direction and there just happens to be diamond right behind it, you are x-raying.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 22:57

---

Then how come I have 1 diamond in my inventory, four diamond tools, no armor, and no diamonds in my chests? And I haven't even seen `steve` on in a while... Unless his name was invisible.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by Chifilly - 13 Feb 2013 22:59

---

Steve's on every day. Most of the time he unvanishes, but sometimes he does stay invisible.

And how should I know? LogBlock doesn't lie, and you have broken 134 blocks of diamond in 2 days. I don't care what happened to them, I just care that you're not x-raying on our server anymore.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 23:01

---

No, I'm not x-raying on the server anymore. And I don't recall breaking that many diamond ores. Maybe I collected that many diamonds, because of a good pick and super-breaker. And when I say I don't dig in straight lines, I mean I don't dig in one constant direction. I'm random.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by Chifilly - 13 Feb 2013 23:04

---

No, it doesn't record pick ups, it records breakages. You have physically broken 134 diamond ore blocks, and the tunnels we saw were 100% x-ray tunnels. End of argument.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 23:06

---

Unless I got hacked, or played Minecraft while I was sleeping, I do NOT recall breaking anywhere near 134 diamond ores.

=====

Re: Banned?

Posted by 117derek - 13 Feb 2013 23:08

---

I just figured it out. I installed Minecraft on somebody elses computer, and hit remember username/password or whatever. They probably did it, and if not, then I WAS hacked. Because I did NOT break 135 diamond ore.

=====