I installed Minecraft on my mother's computer. I cannot be responsible for my mother letting my little sister get on there and play Minecraft. I installed it so I could play Minecraft online when I'm downstairs, and I really had no clue my mother would be letting my sister go online with that account.

Seriously, I locked the other thread because nothing you can say will change anything, and you make another thread -_-

Whatever happens to your account is not my problem! Your account x-rayed, your account got banned for it. Nothing will change that, end of!

Locked!
