Anywho.

After yet another day of nerding out to tf2 and fc all day, I decided to get back to twk.

In which I came to an actively grieved house.

Nothin better than logblock, eh?

Anywho. Secound point.

As you see, They TNTd it, But there is the fact that it wasnt claimed and they could place and break the chests and leave. They decided to nuke the house and leave it.

I figured they would know better than this, Knowing the rules and knowing ill find out 😏

I have shaz checkin out the area.

I simple wish for a mod or anyone with lb to check it out and confirm 😏

They overclaim and then tnt it, nobody needs that.

Oh, and on a final note,

Red. Please. Spell the words: Again, and Robbed correctly before trying to act bad-ass. 😏

Anyone who has seen the house knows that something is up 😏

Love,

Bitchin' shadow.

I checked the place out. Honestly; there is no need for so much damage considering you could just claim over the area...

Griefers should be punished. Personally I would like a second opinion before doing anything, so if an admin could check it out too that'd be great.

Cheers,

I find it intresting that always when someone gets grieved, its a nameless friend of Wyatt.
