Only started playing CS:S again about 3 days ago. The WCS server was one of the first ones my eye came across. Joined it and now I'm playing it all day. I have noticed that some of the rly high leveled players are going on and being mean to the newbys (like me). Guess that's it, hai TWK.

hi and welcome sam.

may i remind players of one of our rules.

TWK general rules for all members (community, clan and admin)

The bottom line is that TWK is intended to be friendly community that run friendly servers and therefore exhibit friendly behaviour.

There are certain things that are expected from all members of the community/clan. Thus we have the rules of TWK, which will no doubt be updated and altered as time goes on.

General rules of conduct for public servers and website

No abusive behaviour toward anyone is permitted.

No cheating of any sort.

No overuse of any admin rights on the servers.

No rudeness toward new or regular players on any of our servers or on others - you are wearing our tag.

Community members rights, particularly map changes have fun guys , thats whats its all about. 😊
