I can remember, that serpent wards at spawn (CT or T) are not allowed. But the admins can correct me because my memory is not the best

U can't place wards in the opponents team there spawn. So if u are T u can't place at CT spawn.

The old school rule was no wards in opponents spawn but were allowed in your spawn as long as all entrances/exits to the spawn weren't warded off. That's going back about a year though, don't know if it stills applies.

I remeber it and think it should be NO Spawn Wards AT all.

is correct, when i had a rule-making phase i went with no wards in either spawn. But also, you cant use wards on bombsites/hostages and you have to leave one route free. So you can't just camp in a place where the other team cant get to without walking on wards.

There were also a few maps where they were totally not allowed but i can't remember which, mainly the tiny ones e.g. awp_float
