

Absence, time, future

Posted by Tunes - 22 May 2014 23:21

Hello folks, I'm not dead and neither do you 😊

Lots of things have put me away from TwKGaming for a long time, even though, the vanilla mc server still leaves on, curiously without a restart in months 😊

I don't, neither want to promise anything, there is a new site half made, if I find the will power, I'll finish it up a bit more and publish it, if, I find the willpower.

Everything is well, besides a few bruises due to the mountain biking stuff, got a new, very hard, project in my hand in the last 6 months, as usual, Linux related, and pretty big to keep me busy.

Online time is mostly FB, find me there.

Cheers folks! I'll be around.

Howdy! - I still check the forums almost every day just to see what's happening. Sadly nothing in months, I visit the Vanilla minecraft every few weeks also but I don't tend to stay for long. - It's nice seeing a new post in this forum.

Well, I wish you luck on your new big project thing and I hope all goes well! and I hope your bruises and such are better soon 😊

Hello!

I also check this forum now and then.

Been busy with studies and playing guildwars2.

Im also learning some linux networking thingies 🤔

Good luck on the project and im online on steam if needed.

M3ntoz out

So is there going to be a new server or is the old one going to get a restart? I miss all you guys.

Need the warcraft server back up, missed playing that!

Well, I would miss it if it wasn't my fault that the servers completely got messed up. - I totally didn't get admin access and screw everything up causing the server to go all bugged up and crash constantly and make the server go completely empty and never re-populate.

Yep, I totally didn't do that.
