

Rally Golden ages

Posted by Tunes - 08 Mar 2010 11:42

This were the times where the word was "Go there and win"; No rules, no FIA no BS, anyone could do whatever he wants to make a rally car, pump it up to the max and drive like there is no tommorow.

Since I was quite young, this is what moves me, autosports, even had the chances to build a professional carrer, but failed somewhere (mainly physical, i'm too big) and carried on with telecoms.

Found this while while browsing for Lancia stratus for sale around the world.

Lots of nutcase drivers, anything is good to have some fun on wheels biertijd.com/mediaplayer/?itemid=17362; onclick="window.open(this.href);return false;

Re: Rally Golden ages

Posted by Johannicus - 08 Mar 2010 14:25

Real nice, truly the golden age =)
