

APB - All Points Bulletin

Anyone here playing this game? Would be cool to team up if you do. Im playing on the Patriot server as a criminal 🍷

Its basicly GTA online. I like the fact that you dont need to pay per month if you dont want, since there is an option to buy game time in hours wich will last until you used them all, no matter how much time has gone between. Wich is great for a casual player. Downside is the lack of variating missions but after a while you dont care, especially when you got 1 or up to a full team of enemy players who will do what they can to stop you from succeeding with your mission. But then again, you can interfere with others missions if you want aswell.

This game need some improvements but got some real potential!

But its one of the easiest games to spot them in. They are the ones creating female chars with as much skin showing as possible. And so far I have never meet them in the action district.

50 hours for 35£... hummm

A bit pricey, as I will enter vacation, is not the good time to give it a spin, I saw a few movies about the gameplay and does look fun.
