Steam

Posted by Che ken - 15 Sep 2010 11:05

_____

Well it seems the college network blocks all types of websites like facebook and such until after 5 and even worse is their connection blocks steam from working!! 😲

Anyone got any ideas how to get it working please share lol I'll have fridays and the weekends to myself and we won't be getting assignments for at least a few weeks, so gotta have something tp dp until then other than go for walks and
)

==

Re: Steam

Posted by colin1uk - 15 Sep 2010 11:36

_____

thats not good , im sure one of the techys will be along today to tell you (hopefully).

==

Re: Steam

Posted by TheBlackWaltz - 15 Sep 2010 12:42

_____

Ask the admin to unblock the ports to use steam (cant remeber what they are)

==

Re: Steam

Posted by liger - 15 Sep 2010 20:08

_____

there are countless proxy services (free)

but personally i wouldnt trust em with my passwords

==

Re: Steam

Posted by Tunes - 16 Sep 2010 10:19

_____

Well, I were the sysadmin there, and I do block lots of sites in schools and stuff, there is no way to make steam pass if it has all ports blocked.

There are methods, but they do require the presence of a machine outside the school network with a service to re-route the inside packets. Otherwise, forget-it.

And, if do try to use "free" proxies available around... you might end with your steam account stolen.

===