I also "finished" the game, at least gave the win to House, but I still have around 50% of the locations to visit and other 50% sidequests to do.. soooo, lots of walking 😊

But the DLC.. will come right into my steam asap 😊

I went with freeing Vegas. I though "if someone has to own Vegas why not me?". The game ended at Hoover Dam, something I have read will not happen with the new patch coming, where I think it will allow you to move on. If not will have to restart with a diff character and create a different ending 🤔

Just to say the end is great, with your actions all over the place having differences in the finale.

I saved when the warning came up, incase I wanted to play more with that char. I toke the NCR side, even managed to get hold of a NCR Ranger armor, the kind the presidents bodyguards have, same as you see on the front cover. And no I didnt kill anyone to get it. I also blew the Brotherhood up in tiny pieces. Im now starting a playthrough where I side with the Legion as early on as possible..wonder how that will go?

I supported the Brotherhood. Wanted a Power Armour, and I knew they gave training. 🤔 well, I'm just a fin bastard, done all brotherhood missions then buried the place 🤔

I took house side and a bit of ncr, anyway, I found myself idolized everywhere 🤔

However the game does let you continue, I picked up a earlier savegame to continue the rest of the exploration and more sidequests as I still miss around 60% of the locations to find, haven't played anything recently anyway in around 2 weeks.
