Ok here goes for a sum up of 2010s best games. Your free to discuss and post your own 3 top games aswell.

Number 1: How can it not be this game that allows you to play the hero in a sci-fi adventure thats almost like a damn good movie where you get to choose all the important details like:

Where to go.

Wich girl/guy the hero gets

Who lives or dies

How it will end.

Im ofc talking about Mass effect 2! If you havnt played this..SHAME ON YOU!

How can a singleplayer game wich has taken up 239 hours of my year not be nr 1? And it got Tali;)

Number 2: A spy RPG? Love it! Sure it had some short commings but a game wich makes me play thru it 3 times in a row is good imo. Each time I finished it I started a new game without exiting the game.

Number 3: Its dark, its scary and its cubical. Yes you guessed it Im talking about Minecraft!

Im still waiting for a community server, and Im willing to wait. As it will be cool to create stuff and go thru others creations. This game is perfect for my creative mind.

Now some of you might rise an eyebrow and say "what about SC2?". Well first of all, they ruined base defense with buildings being easy to destroy (just like they did in W3). The game is clearly made for e-sports. Secondly, 2 parts of the singleplayer story hasnt been released yet so its incomplete for me. Now some of you might ask "what about this game or this game?" Well this is my opinion, but as I stated in the beginning, your free to list your top 3 below.

I've only played one of those (that's what families do to ya!!).

Minecraft has probably been the most interesting, intruiging, unexpected and absorbing game I've come across this year.

Of the games I own, my list for this year would probably be..

- 1) Minecraft
  - 2) Empire: Total War
  - 3) Black Ops
