Well, i'll vote for it, cause it's easy to get levels without having to buy weapons instead of xp =)

To be honest Grizzle, the map is played a heck-of-alot, but the voting system is there for a reason.

The players have the choice not to vote for it, they have 4-5 maps to choose from, but either being lazy, or being hypocritical they just hit "1" straight away then moan when the map comes up.

There's not alot any FTP admins can do regarding this matter, it's down to players not voting for it, if they don't want to play it.

But, thanks for bringing it to our attention.

Regards,

Moo.

Must agree if people still vote for it then there isn't much to do about it and yea you surely have allot of people who just press 1 on the vote.

But I also know there are mapcycle vote systems that leave a map you currently played out for 4-6 maps (I think you can arrange it yourself) also counts for map nominates. Maybe that will help to play and see more diffrend maps then always the same ones. Cause we kinda stuck on the same maps and we bearly never try/play other ones.

When i do a map vote, i always take new maps with some others but people always go to maps they already know.
