Hello fellow TWK'ers. As some of you may have noticed im not active in the day anymore and thats because I finally found a job! yey and boo cause i dont get to play with you guys as much.

My job started as a telesales person where I was ringing up trying to sell advertising space for a range of boring magazines (Construction, Healthcare, Education, Health and Fitness) and although I was enjoying it, theres only so much enthusiasm you can put in a pitch to sell construction space xD

So I decided to go to my bosses and pitch to them the idea of running a gaming magazine along side of it. Which they took really positivly so thats why Im here to get its name spread around as much as possible 😊

To help support me please &quot;like&quot; our facebook page at Hey hun can you do me a huge favour and like my magazine im doing on facebook?
