I would believe they might be the same group, the news started with a deface on Sunday to their forums (steam forums) and maybe more of the steam database may have been stolen, as usual, companies like Valve and Sony don't reveal exactly who or what, so what we gotta do really is in extreme situation, cancel the visa, change pw's and on Steam case, de-authorize every other computer we may use steam on.

Also change paypal pw. Steam doesn't keep them, but we never know.
