Think you know about football? - Competition

I'm being super nice and I'm going to run a competition for the duration of the world cup knock-out stages. Ive decided to answer all your questions in 1 go! Or most of them.

Team1 v team2 – (Winners prediction here)

E.g.

Scotland vs England = Scotland (if Robert green plays)

FAQ:

What do I win? Well by doing this and winning you will get nothing.

Why should I do it? It's fun, and it allows me to beat you

Why now? Well.... It is the world cup.

What are the rules? You must submit your Prediction at least 2 hours before the game is played, for obvious reasons.

How do we know who wins? If you guess a result correctly, you will receive 1 point and if you guess it wrongly, you get nothing. You will also get the chance before the knock-out to guess what team is going to win the full competition – If they win you will get an extra 3 points.

When does it start? You can submit your team to win now, but we will need to wait for teams to qualify for the group stages, before you can guess the result.

For next match, Argentina vs South Korea...

Argentina.

I got North Korea in the sweep stake at work incidentally ..

Basically, there's a google spreadsheet being set up.

Each participant puts down their expected result (WIN/LOSE/DRAW) for each of the knockout fixtures (these will be updated after every round of knockout). Each person also has their team they picked to win from the start of the knockout rounds.

1 point for a correct result.

3 points if your team wins the world cup.
