Finally I have found it again! Posted by VoGon - 19 Mar 2009 22:54
So yes, after thousand of links and searches over the web I have found one of my favourite albums of all time!
K.L.F The White Room
Used to have it in vinil, but I lost it over time, then found out something about K.L.F.
More than any pop band in history, the KLF ripped off the music industry for a bucketful of loot and got away with it as illustrated in their own guidebook to creating number one singles, The Manual. Bill Drummond and Jimi Cauty applied the tactics of punk shock-terrorism to late-'80s acid house and became one of Britain's best-selling artists (recording also as the JAMS and the Timelords) just before their retirement in 1992. The duo then deleted their entire back catalog a potential loss in the millions of pounds and declared they wouldn't release another record until peace was declared throughout the world.
So that meant its not available anywhere to purchase
You "older" guys may know them from this theme (I was 16 ffs
