Season 2 just started here in Sweden, just saw E1 and it looks promising. Loved S1, one of the few TV series I actually followed each week. Dont usually do that since I hate commercial interuptions..

Anyone seen this serie? Disliked or liked it? No season 2 spoilers!!

Seen S1, not all of it, but most of it. Liked it too, loved the idea and the fun factor of having George Michael randomly appearing on his visions... Of all the things to appear to him... Lol

Great series. Still waiting to get S2 here, but will deffo follow it too.

Good series last only 2 seasons if they are based on a concept or story, after that they repeat and go bad, just look at X-files and (imo) Lost.. 🤔 last season of lost was great weeds is still good (waiting new season)

in short i disagree -.-

Anyway the only reason series get cancelled is because of the ratings and for some reason they were low. Well actually the reason is known, its Idol and alike which just pisses me off

Agreed 🤔
Can't wait for the final season.

Not seen Eli Stone. Loving House S.5 atm 🤔

Ok, I admit some series actually can almost continue forever, but there are few that actually can do that

imo. The reason I disliked Lost after season 2 is that it got too confusing. The only way I finally got the story was because I read the sum here on TWKs site 🤔

Great written btw!

And a reminder, Im the kind of person that actually wait a hole week for the next episode, so if the story is to confusing, not getting anywhere I get bored. There must be something that keeps me comming back. ROME and Eli Stone are one of the few that I have followed. ROME I loved so much I downloaded it and watched the hole season in one go!!!

Nothing lasts forever, but some certainly go on for more than 2 series and do well. Another example would be Heroes, which has just ended S4 and still thinking up new ideas. Ya can't say when so many are good after 2 series 🤔

Well, I like Series that actually END.

Not like some that just go on and on like duracell bunnies....

Example is LIFE (2 Seasons), then Prison Break that had one of the most amazing S1 but then again, second one was bad, third was ok and 4th too but nothing to do with the first concept and series (the tattoos that have the prison map and the actual breakout), so should have ended on the first...

Some just end up being "more of the same" and ppl get tired of it soon (at least I do...) but money speaks louder...
