Okay so, when on the website on different computers, the website design had different designs, was wondering why?

This one is on my computer at home:

This one is on the college computers (and a few other computers i've used)

I have no clue. I've had both designs just on this computer. Every now and then it randomly decides to turn brown/grey or whatever that colour is xD

This was one of the old themes we had on the server, if I recall it has like 3 years or more.

We still hosted css and tf2...
