

You computers...

Posted by Che'ken - 20 Apr 2011 00:24

I'm interested... in the time I've been gone, how have peoples computers evolved?

I'm still stuck with the Acer Aspire 6935G and let me tell you... It's gotten so bad that it can't play minecraft, skype and firefox at the same time :

Post a pic if you have one! I'd love to see peoples epic computers 🤔

Well, lots of stuff around the house 🤔

www.luisantunes.pt/en/galeria/?g2_itemId=5398

you can find some pics of them here, the open machine, is the PS4 (yeah, kicks ass) 🤔

Two ATI (4950 I think), Intel E950 QC and two regular 1Tb disks mirrored for storage

The other photo is of my home workplace...

From bottom left to right:

The machine where I'm usually @home, two 80Gb Intel SSD's, two 2Tb hd, Nvidia 8800GTS, Intel i7 950 and runs two screens, one in FC14 and the other with virtualbox wxp 32bit.

Top is a file server... 12x2Tb for 8Tb usable storage.. don't shoot me... 😊

On the edge is the PS4

2x 24" lcd 5ms and the 19 2ms

Not on the photo, there are two more by the tv 😊
C i7 and another QC E9500

the QC's have 8Gb and the i7's have 24Gb ram

Believe me... I do use all this crap 😊
the least used is the ps4

More two laptops, a 5 year old vaio (runs like hell) and an Acer with fc14

I'm not rich, verrrryyyy far from it, some (a lot) of this hardware is donated for my services in the IT area.

Im still using my 4 year old comp but with a updated graphic card, that I bought last winter.

AMD Athlon 64 X2 Dual core processor 6000+ 3GHz

6GB RAM

Win 7 64

GeForce GTX 275

I always use NXZT cases as my case stands in full view and I dont want a dull case =)

Same here, after using a laptop I noticed my typing speed was alot faster compared to a large-key based keyboard. >.
