Some guys took 24 256GB Samsung MLC SSD's and put them in RAID in one single awesome computer. Here is the result:

I calculated on how much this would cost in Norway...:

230000 NOK

and in £

23188£

This is happiness 😊

.....

ffffffffffffffffuuuuuuuucccccccccccccccccccccccccccccc.....

I want it 😊

I must assure, is quite a BIIIIIIIG transfer rate

On our HighEnd systems (and we have plenty) the average maximum is 300Mb/s to tape and 3.5Gb/s on multiple fabric storage (millions of millions€ in HD'S and millions of them) Only available on an IBM 595 other regular midrange systems never top 600Mb/s.

This is quite speedy for that ammount of cash, believe me, worth every penny if you have the use for it.

for regulars, completely useless and expensive, including me @home

Lets see what comes next 🤔
